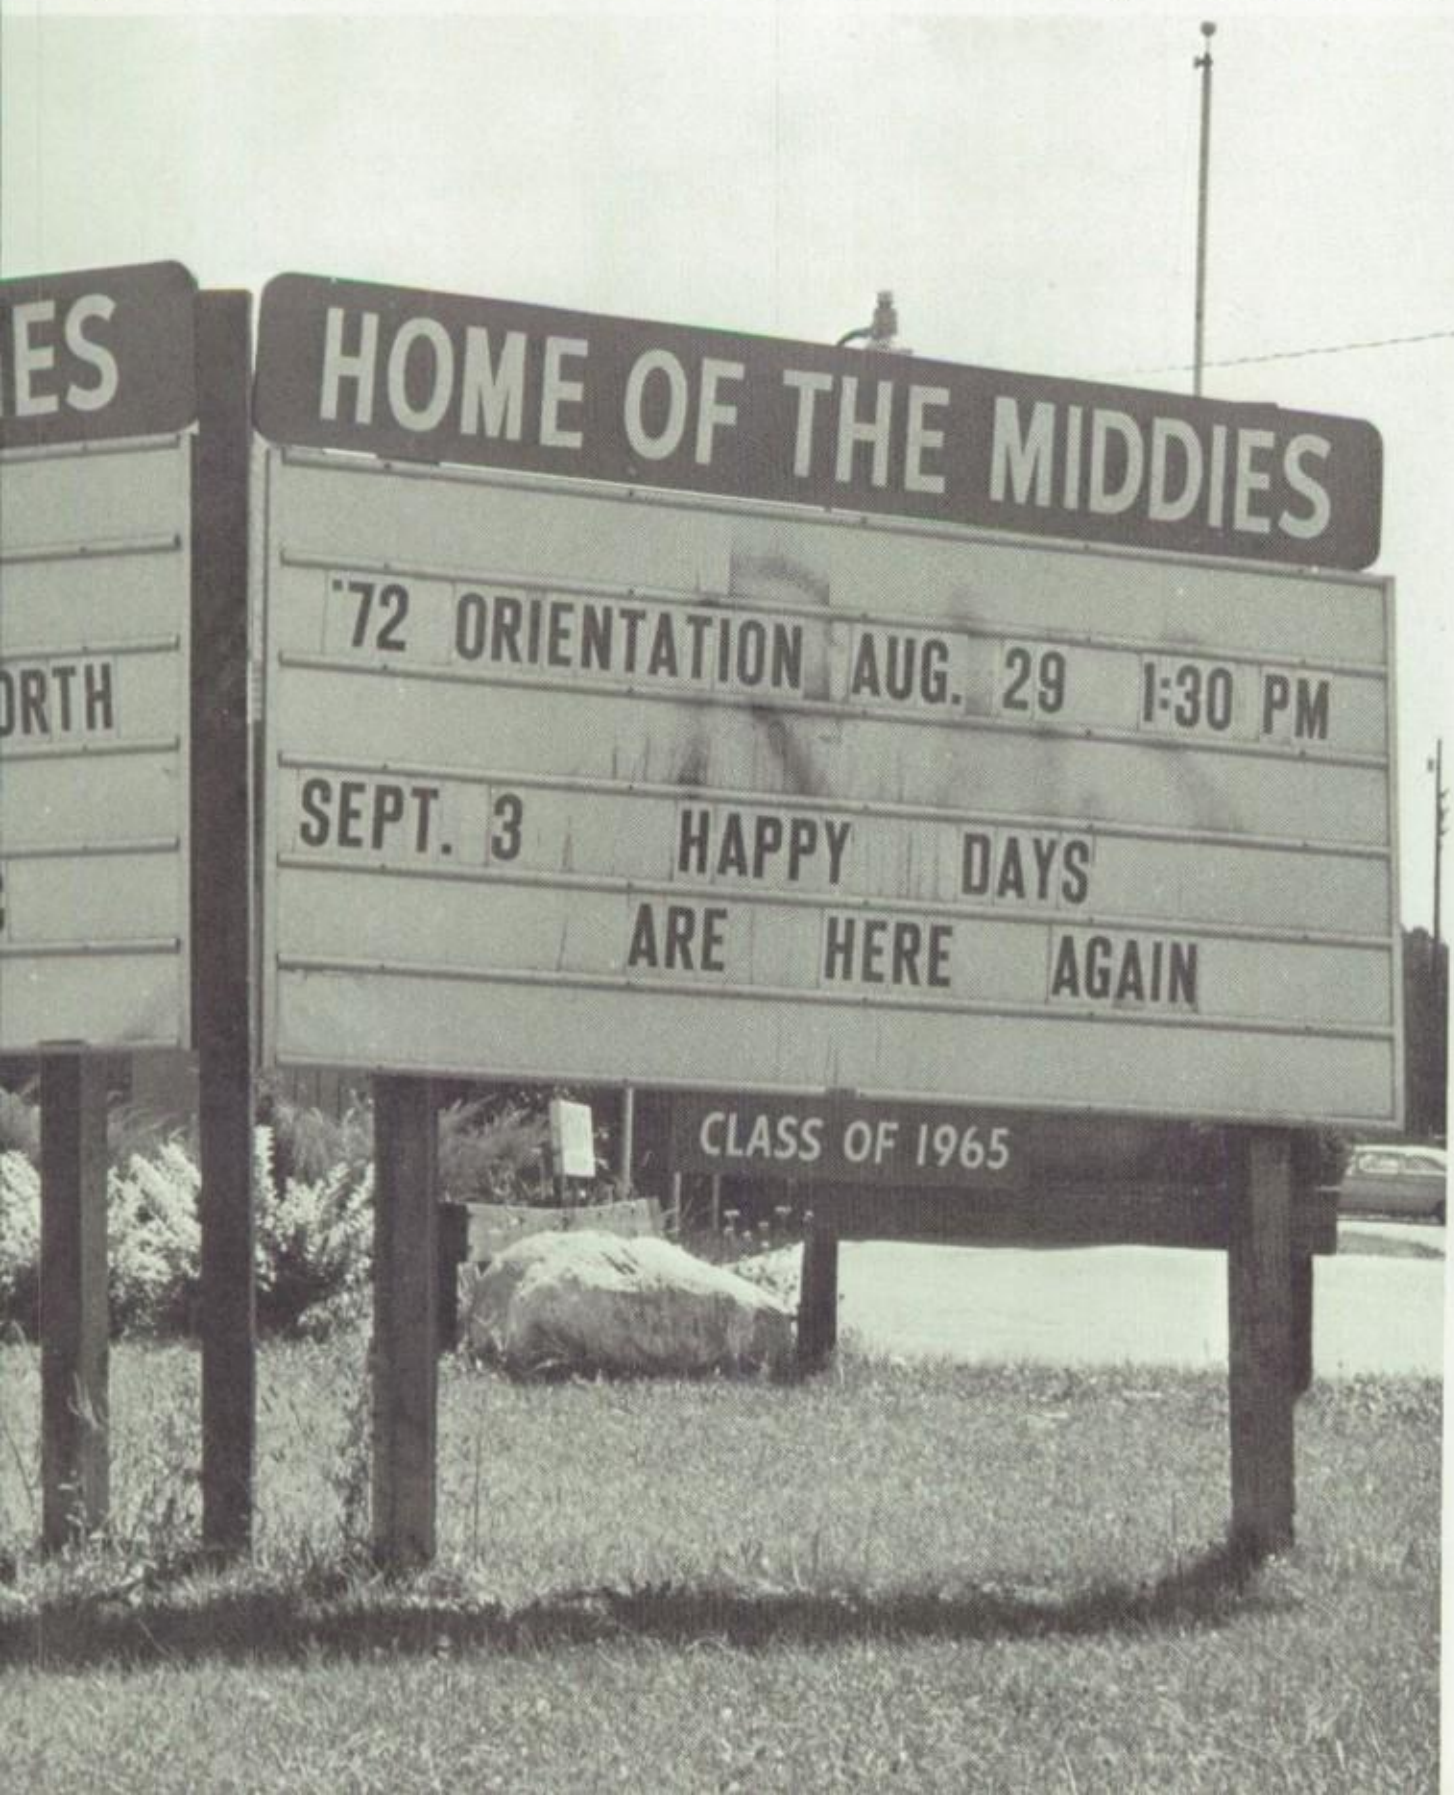
Midview High School:

How Do We Relate to the World?

the world is such a big, complex place. can it really be possible that we have led sheltered lives? has our education at midview placed the world in its proper perspective or will we be lost when we get out into the world?



UNLIMITED

Liberating the campus

nineteen seventy nineteen seventy nineteen seventy

it is traditional for a yearbook to have a theme, but we wanted this yearbook to be different. the 1970 log is not built around a particular theme, it is built around You. this yearbook is, of course, a recording a history, but more important than that, it is the recording of a year in your young life, hopefully a year you won't want to forget.

you have spent one, two, or three years here at midview high school, and it is hoped that you have achieved something. but the only way to achieve anything is through involvement; involvement in sports, organizations, academics, or even in activities outside of the regular planned school functions. to live merely by breathing, eating, and sleeping is not truly living; the only way to discover what life is about is through participation and involvement.

we have all lived through the 1960's, a decade of great human achievement and great human action. we have seen the accomplishments which have taken place through action, and we must realize that to remain silent is simply apathy.

it is the hope of the log staff that you will enjoy this yearbook through involvement; don't just glance dispassionately at its pages, become a part of the year which you helped to create. we hope you can remember the 1969-70 school year as one of action for you, and if not, we hope that this book will help stir you to greater activity in the decade of the 1970's.

Relevance in our Changing World

when you are young, so many things seem important to you.
as you grow older, you look back at those things and wonder at your naivity and stupidity at having once thought them so vital.
values change with age and experience, so perhaps one day we will laugh at the importance we placed upon such insignificant things.
but the problem is,
these trivial things are important to us now.

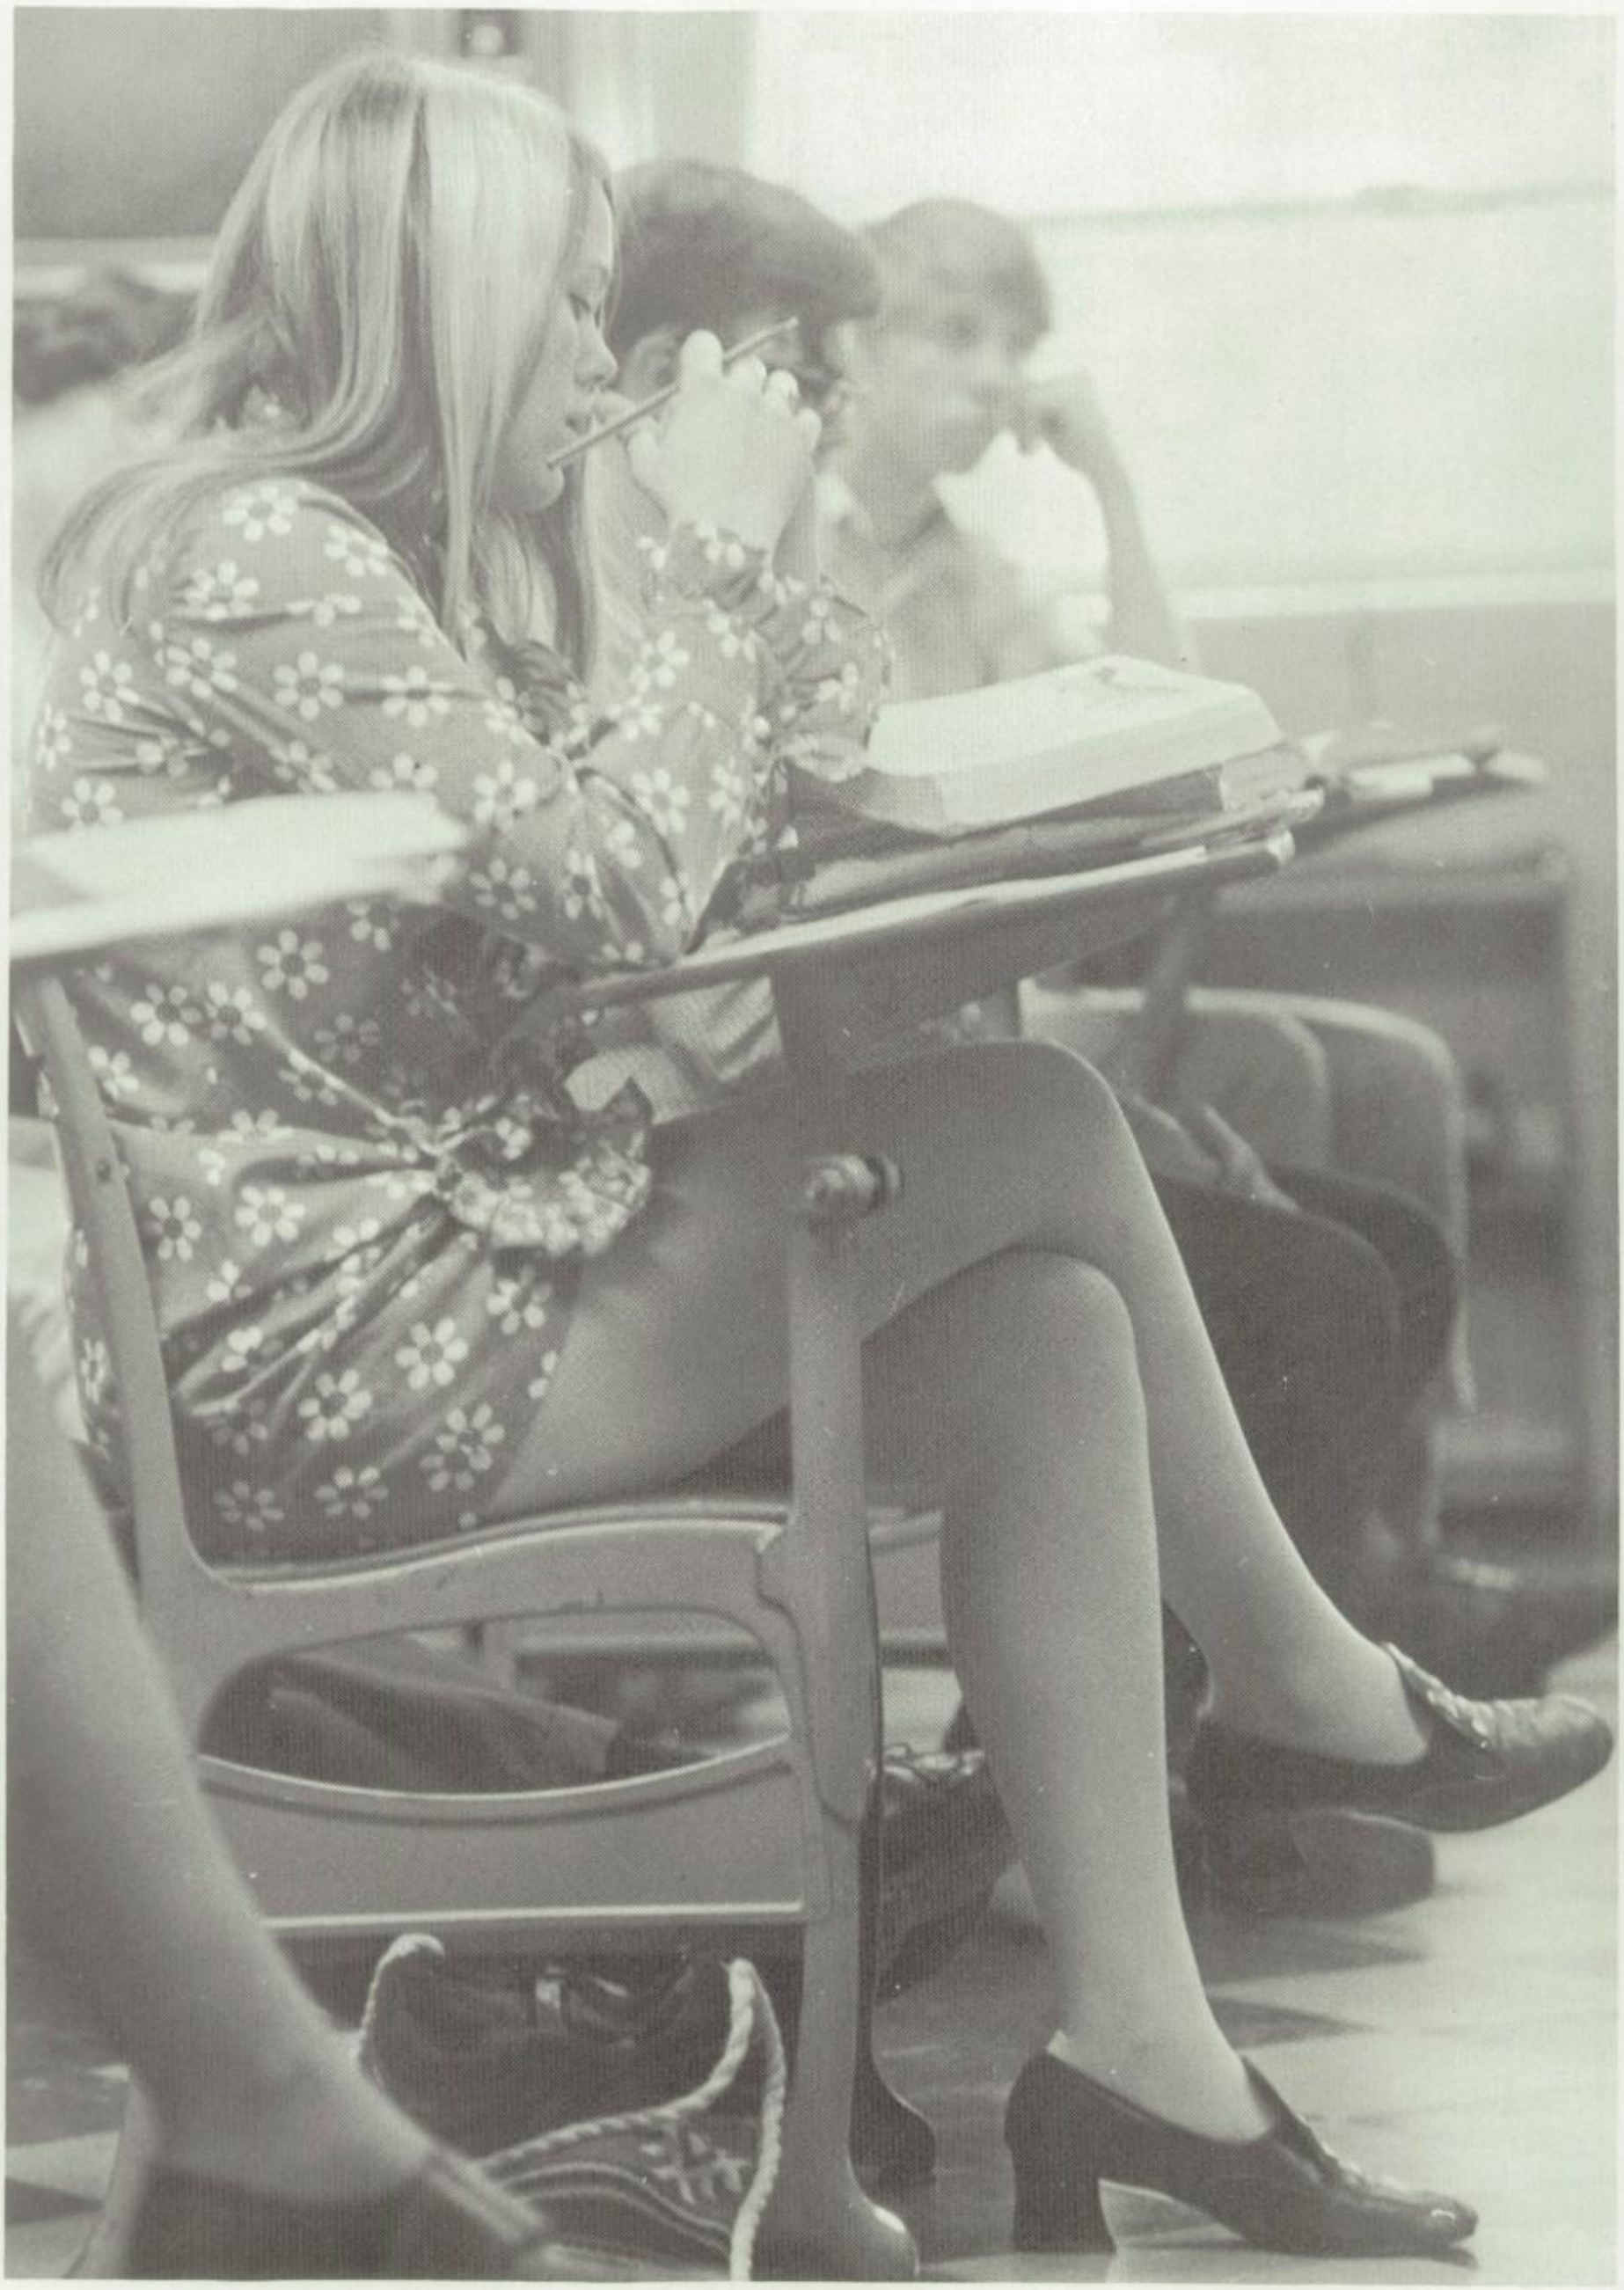
We want you!



An Identity Crisis: Who am I?

identity, identity...
a number, a do-not-fold-spindle-
or-mutilate card...
"what is your social security number, your class rank, your punch clock number?"
all through life, a number,
an arabic numeral...

refuse to accept your status
as a number!!
speak out above the mob of statistics, prove your humanity.
it can be done.

the Realization of Friendship

i used to think that i couldn't wait to get out of school and into the world to live. but now i think of my friends and how close i've really become to them. it makes me sad to think that i might not even see some of them again after graduation. i am realizing what an important part of life friends are, and that the kids at midview are probably the best friends i'll ever have. i only wish i had appreciated them more while we were still together.

CONCERN: Viet Nam

along with thousands of other american colleges and high schools, midview high school participated in the october moratorium on viet nam. the indo-chinese war question, perhaps the biggest dilemma facing america today, was brought home to midview high. emotion ran high, as three different points of view concerning american involvement in viet nam were presented; military victory, gradual withdrawal, and immediate withdrawal. no particular point of view won the debate, as evidenced by the severely split student body, but that wasn't important. what was important was that we took the time out from our isolated academic world to acknowledge a "problem" which had already claimed over 40,000 american lives and had greatly divided the american people. we could no longer sit back and be comfortable members of the "silent majority", no matter if we were liberal or conservative, we were and are concerned, and we did and will express ourselves.

although president nixon vowed to ignore the student dissent, due to the moratorium days the ancient head of selective service was replaced and an increased troop reduction in viet nam was promised. the students could no longer be ignored, and despite our lack of access to the ballot box, we had become a moving political force.

and the students at midview high school had become involved.

Concern: Environment Earth Day 1970

In the end,
There was Earth, and it was with form and beauty,
And man dwelt upon the lands of the Earth,
the meadows and trees, and he said,
"Let us build our dwellings in this place of beauty."
And he built cities and covered the Earth with concrete and steel.
And the meadows were gone.
And man said, "It is good."

On the second day, man looked upon the waters of the Earth.
And man said, "Let us put our wastes in the waters of the Earth, that the dirt will be washed away." And man did.
And the waters became polluted and foul in their smell.
And man said, "It is good."

On the third day, man looked upon the forests of the Earth and saw they were beautiful. And man said, "Let us cut the timber for our homes and grind the wood for our use." And man did.
And the lands became barren and the trees were gone.
And man said, "It is good."

On the fourth day, man saw that animals were in abundance and ran in the fields and played in the sun. And man said,
"Let us cage these animals for our amusement and kill them for sport."
And man did. And there were no more animals on the face of the Earth.
And man said, "It is good."

On the fifth day, man breathed the air of the Earth. And man said,
"Let us dispose of our wastes into the air for the winds shall blow them away. And man did. And the air became filled with smoke and the fumes could not be blown away. And the air became heavy with dust and choked and burned.
And man said, "It is good."

On the sixth day, man saw himself, and seeing many languages and tongues, he feared and hated. And man said, "Let us build great machines" and the Earth was fired with the rage of great wars.
And man said, "It is good."

On the seventh day, man rested from his labors and the Earth was still, for man no longer dwelt upon the Earth.
And it was good.

An End.....

the culmination of twelve years work, hard or otherwise. these years, especially the last three, were years of growth and discovery. not one of us will be exactly the same after our experience at mhs; each teacher, administrator, and fellow student has had an effect upon each other person's life.

any ending of a period in one's life is somewhat sad. although we may have rejoiced in the thought "no more high school," with that rejoicing was mixed a little sobriety and sadness.

it is frightening. we are no longer members of a small, sheltered high school community. we are citizens of the world, facing an uncertain and rapidly changing situation. we have the power to shape the world of tomorrow, ideally a world free from hate and repression.

and the time to begin is now.

but a beginning
